It was the chief city of Judea, and first called Salem, Ge. 14:18. i. e. Peace; afterwards, Jebus. Here was the Mt. Moriah, where Abraham offered Isaac, and the Temple was built.
Jerusalem was the city of the great King: the seat of his worship and symbols of his presence were fixed there. It was the joy of the whole earth, the house of prayer for all nations; thither the tribes went up to worship; the tribes of the Lord unto the testimony of Israel. For there are set thrones of judgment, the thrones of the house of David, Ps. 122:4,5. These privileges she enjoyed through many ages, even till her fatal rejection of the Lord Jesus Christ, for she would not have this Isan to reign over her; and as a fruit hereof, wrath came upon her to the uttermost.

MAN, s. Man was in his original state a very noble and exalted creature, being placed as the head and lord of this world, having all the creatures in subjection to him. The powers and operation of his mind were extensive, copacious, and perfret ; capable of contemplating on the works of God with infinite pleasure and delight, and of performing his will without the least deviation. But by sinning against his Creator, his mind is vitiated, corrupted, and debased ; and he is in a ruined, lost, miserable, and wretched state. Hence it is asked, What is man? Ps. 8:4. The Heb. word for man is Enosh, i. e. sorry, wretched, and incurably sick ; to denote his condition, in his apostasy from God. Man is called Ish, Ps. 4:3. | 49:2. i. e. noble, dignified, and valiant ; and Adam, which signifies earthy, and is put for the baser sort of people, Ps. 49:2. OFFERING, s. The Hebrews had several kinds of offerings, which they presented at the tabernacle and temple. Some were free-will-offerings, as the peace-offerings, vows, offerings of wine, oil, bread, and other things, made to the ministers of the Lord for devotion. Others were of obligation, as the first-fruits, tenths, and sin-offerings. All offerings in general they called Corban: But the offerings of bread, salt, fruits, and liquors, as wine, and oil, which were presented to the temple, they called Mincha.
The Hebrews had properly but 3 sorts of sacrifices, (1) The burnt-offering, which was wholly consumed, only the priest had the skin, Le. 7:8. (2) The sacrifice for sin, or expiation for him who had fallen into any offence against the law, Le. 4. (3.) The peace-offering, which was offered voluntarily in praise to God, or to ask favors, &c.: the breast and right shoulder of which belonged to the priest, Le. 7:31,34.

OLIVE, s. is a tree full of fatness, and yields plenty of oil. There are two kinds. The cultivated olive-tree is of a moderate height, its trunk knotty, its bark smooth, and of an ash color; its wood is solid and yellowish, the leaves are oblong, and almost like those of the willow, of a green color, dark on the upper side, and white on the under. In June it puts forth white flowers, in bunches. The fruit is oblong and plump. The wild olive is smaller in all its parts. CRUDEN.

PALM-Tree, s. is an upright, tall, fruit-bearing, flourishing, and shadowy tree, Ps. 92:12. Song 7:7,8. Jer. 10:5. It grows by the sweet springs of water, and continues long. It will not be pressed or bound downward, or grow crooked, though heavy weights be laid on it. This tree is one of the most famous of all the forest, and is the usual emblem of constancy, fruitfulness, patience, and victory; which the more it is oppressed, the more it flourisheth; the higher it grows, the stronger and broader it is in the top. One kind is the date-tree. The Hebrews called it Thamar, and the Greeks, Phœnix. The finest and best palm-trees were about Jericho, En-gedi, and along the banks of Jordan. Palm-trees from the same root produce

PRAYER, s. is An offering up of our desires to God for things lawful and needful, with an humble confidence to obtain them through the alone mediation of Christ, to the glory of God, Mat. 6:6. Jn. 16:23,24,26. It is either mental or vocal, ejaculatory or occasional, private or public, 1 Ti. 2:1,2. We must pray constantly, Col. 4:2. fervently, Col. 4:12. sincerely, Ps. 17: 1. with faith, Ja. 5:15. and repentance, Ps. 66: 18. Jer. 36:7. and by the help of the Holy Spirit, Ro. 8:26.

Prayer comes from a Hebrew word, signifying appeal, interpellation, intercession; whereby we refer our own cause, and that of others, to God.

The parts of Prayer are said to be invocation, adoration, confession, petition, pleading, dedication, thanksgiving, and blessing.

The LORD'S PRAYER illustrated.

Our Father, Is. 63:16.

By right of creation, Ma. 2:10.
By bountiful provision, Ps. 145:16.
By gracious adoption, Ep. 1:5.

Who art in heaven, 1 K. 8:43.
The throne of thy glory, Is. 66:1.
The portion of thy children, 1 Pe. 1:4.
The temple of thy angels, Is. 6:1.

Hallowed be thy name, Ps. 115:1.
By the thoughts of our hearts, Ps. 86:11.
By the words of our lips, Ps. 51:15.
By the work of our hands, 1 Co. 10:31.

Thy kingdom come, Ps. 110:2.
Of providence to defend us, Ps. 17:8.
Of grace to refine us, 1 Th. 5:23.
Of glory to crown us, Col. 3:4.

Thy will be done on earth, as it is in heaven, Ac. 21:14.

Towards us, without resistance, 1 S. 3:18.
By us, without compulsion, Ps. 119:36.
Universally, without exception, Lu. 1:6.
Eternally, without declension, Ps. 119:93.

Give us this day our daily bread,
Of necessity, for our bodies, Pr. 30:8.
Of eternal life, for our souls, Jn. 6:34.

And forgive us our trespasses, Ps. 25:11.
Against the commands of thy law, 1 Jn. 3:4.
Against the grace of thy gospel, 1 Ti. 1:13.

As we forgive them that trespass against us, Mat. 6:15.
By defaming our characters, Mat. 5:11.
By embezzling our property, Phile. 18.
By abusing our persons, Ac. 7:60.

And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil, Mat. 26:41.
Of overwhelming affliction, Ps. 130:1.
Of worldly entirements, 1 Jn. 2:15.
Of Satan's devices, 1 Ti. 3:7.

PSALM, s. From the Gr. Psallo, which signifies to touch sweetly. Psalms or Hymns are composed of words pithy and affecting, and commonly limited to a certain number of syllables, or feet. The Psalms are properly placed in the middle of the Bible, being the very soul of godly experience, and of the whole gospel.
By the late Hebrew writers they are called Sepher-Tehillim, or Tehilloth, i. e. the book of Hymns or praises, because the subject there is the high praises of God. In 2 S. 23:1. they are called Zimroth Jisrael, i. e. the Psalms of Israel. In the N. T. Psalmoi, i. e. Psalms.
The book of Psalms is more frequently quoted in the N. T. than any other. Some note that it is quoted 64 times, and Isaiah 60. But I have counted 140 vs. in the N. T. in which this book is cited. — ROBERTS'S KEY.

SACRIFICE, s. is a solemn act of religious worship, which consisted in offering up, or devoting something, animate or inanimate, on an altar, by the hands of a priest, either as an expression of gratitude to God, for some special favor, or to own their dependence on him, or to conciliate his favor. Sacrifices were in use before, as well as under the law of Moses, and were of beasts, birds, bread, oil, &c. They may be distinguished into, (1) Typical sacrifices, as those already mentioned, Ex. 12:27. (2) The perfect, all-sufficient, and infinite sacrifice of Christ, whereby he hath atoned for and put away sin, He. 9:26. and reconciled us to God, Col. 1:21,22. 1 Th. 4:3. this is the will of God, even your s. 4. should know how to possess his vessel in 2 Th. 2:13. through s. of the Spirit, 1 Pe. 1:2.
SANCTIFY, v. signifies, (1) To separate, set apart, and appoint any thing to a holy use, Ge. 2:3. Ex. 13:2. He. 10:14. (2) To cleanse and purify sinners from the guilt, power, and pollution of sin, by the blood of Christ, and mighty operation of the Spirit of holiness, Ez. 36:25. 1 Co. 1:30. | 6:11. Ti. 3:5,6. He. 9:14. This consists in mortification of sin, Col. 3:5. and vivification of grace, 2 Co. 4:16. Col. 3:10. (3) To honor and magnify, Ex. 36:23. (4) To free the creature from the curse that sin has brought on it, 1 Ti. 4:5.
Sanctification differs from Justification.
1. Justification is a change of our state from guilt and curse, to pardon and acquittance; sanctification is a change of our nature from death to life, and from uncleanness to holiness. 2. Justification is an instantaneous act, and complete at once; sanctification is gradual, and not complete till death. 3. Justification is by imputation of Christ's righteousness to us; sanctification is by grace communicated to us from Christ. 4. Justification is the cause; sanctification is the effect.

SCORPION, s. A venomous reptile, somewhat like a small lobster, with a long, slender tail, and a deadly sting at the end of it. It has a bladder full of dangerous poison. Its head appears to be joured to the breast. It has 2 eyes in the middle of its head, and 2 towards its extremity, between which come out, as it were, 2 arms, which are divided into 2, like the claws of a lobster. It has 8 legs proceeding from its breast, and every one divided into 6 parts, covered with hair, at the end whereof are 6 talons or claws. The belly is divided into 7 rings, from the last of which the tail proceeds, which is divided into 7 little heads, of which the last is armed with a sting, filled with a cold poison, which it squirts into the part which it stings. The scorpion is of a blackish color, like soot: it waddles as it goes: and fixes violently with its snout, and by its feet, on such persons as it seizes, so that it cannot be plucked off but with difficulty. The best and surest remedy against the bite is said to be to squeeze it to pieces on the wound. It is said the dam brings forth 11 small, wormlike and round young, who, after they are hatched, kill their mother.

It is put for, (1) Stinging punishments, 1 K. 12: 11. (2) Cruel people, Ez. 2:6. (3) Antichristian heretics, Re. 9:3,10.

SOUL, s. Heb. Nephesh; in Gr. Psuche. It signifies, (1) That rational, spiritual, and immortal substance in man, which is the origin of our thoughts, desires, and reasonings: and bears some resemblance of its divine Maker, Mat. 10:28. (2) The whole person, both soul and body, Ge. 12:5. (3) The life of man, Ps. 33:19. (4) Desire, love, inclination, Ge. 23:8. (5) The spirit of a brute, Ge. 1:24. Le. 17: 11. Ec. 3:21.

The eternal salvation of one soul is of greater importance, and big with greater events, than the temporal salvation of a whole kingdom, though it were for the space of ten thousand ages: because there will come up a point, an instant in eternity, when that one soul shall have existed as many ages, as all the individuals of a whole kingdom, ranged in close succession, will in the whole have existed in the space of ten thousand ages: Therefore one soul is capable of a larger share of happiness or misery, throughout an endless eternity, for that will still be before it, more than a whole kingdom is capable of in ten thousand ages. SURETY, s. Christ is the surety of the better testament, or covenant, He. 7:22. The word signifies, one that draws nigh; Christ drew nigh to his Father in the counsel of peace, and undertook to be the savior and redeemer of his people; he substituted himself in their place and stead; he interposed between the creditor and the debtor, and became surety for the payment of the debts of the latter, and so stood engaged for them, and in their room. Christ is not the surety for the Father to his people, but for them to the Father; as to satisfy for their sins, to work out a righteousness for them, to preserve and keep them, and make them happy, which is an instance of matchless love. DR. THUMMIM. Urim and Thummim signify light and perfection, or the shining and the perfect; according to Jerome, doctrine and judgment; the LXX, declaration, or manifestation, and truth. There are various conjectures about the Urim and Thummim, whether they were the stones in the high-priest's breast-plate, or something distinct from them; which it is not worth our while to inquire into, since God has left it a secret. It is evident that the Urim and Thummim were appointed to inquire of God by, on momentous occasions; and continued in use (as some think) only till the building of Solomon's temple; and all conclude, that this was never restored after its destruction.
